SANTA GETS A NEW SUIT

Every December RBC member Skinny Medlin puts away his US Postal Service uniform and brings out a bright red and white Santa suit. If you have seen Skinny around the Raleigh area chances are you saw him in one of those outfits. Recently he purchased a new suit and his wardrobe took on a very different look. Skinny is an avid collector of White House Vinegar memorabilia and just when you think he has everything, along comes a new and interesting item. A few weeks ago Skinny ran across this Busch Series 'WHITE HOUSE' racing outfit, including the bright green and yellow helmet. You can bet he didn't let this unusual item get away....

"Skinnys got a new suit."

Note: Skinny's White House collection is featured in the June, 2007 issue of Bottle Talk. You can access past issues of Bottle Talk on the RBC web site:
raleighbottleclub@gmail.com

This unusual 6oz. "art deco" NuGrape bottle was shown by Whitt Stallings. He sold it on Ebay last week for $31.00. You missed a deal.

Another unusual find for Whitt Stallings. This is a Farmville, N.C. CA-RO soda bottle with the embossed slogan "IT'S BETTO".

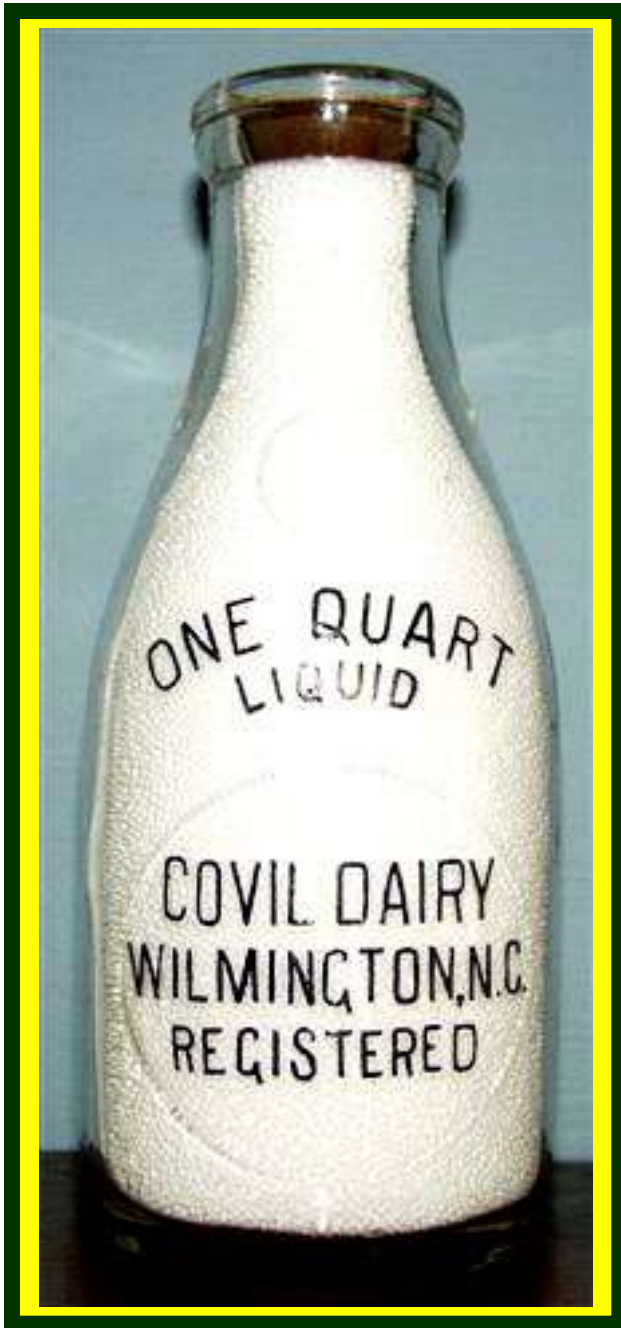

LEFT: This nice straight sided double script Raleigh, N.C. Pepsi was shown by Whitt Stallings. Watch ebay for a "Whitt bargain buy".

RIGHT: A couple of nice CRUSH Diet sodas are from Donnie Medlin's Crush collection. Try finding these on ebay. It may take a while.

These two variations of the Kinston, N.C. half pint dispensary flask were presented by RBC member Joe Williams. VERY NICE !

The two Wilmington, N.C. milk bottle photos were provided by BOTTLE TALK reader John Patterson. John is searching for information on these dairies. If you have any information on these dairies please contact John at: nmilks@carolina.rr.com

FREEDOM IS NOT FREE!

Remember those who fought and died for your freedom!

The S-SITE employee badge is from the Manhattan Project in Los Alamos, New Mexico. S-SITE is where the explosive work was done to develop the atomic bomb. The bomb was developed and tested at Trinity site in July of 1945. President Truman decided to drop the bomb "Little Boy" on Hiroshima on August 6, 1945 and a few days later drop the second bomb, "Fat Man" on Nagasaki. He hoped these bombs would bring a quick end to WWII. The Japanese surrendered a short time later. Thousands of American lives were saved because of the bombs yet 15% of the American population did not approve. Some things never change.

The MANHATTAN PROJECT service pin was issued at the Manhattan Project Plutonium Production Facility near Hanford, WA. Approval for this facility was given in 1942. Construction began in March, 1943 at an accelerated pace and by December, two reactors, a separations plant and many other support facilities were operating on the site. Employees at this facility received the A-Bomb pin commemorating their service.
